THE Criminal Statistics and Report on the Police Force for the year 1902 are published in the current issue of the Government Gazette. We regret to notice in the first place that the total number of cases reported to the Police during the year shows an increase of 13-61 per cent, the figures being 10,421 as compared with 9,172 for the previous year; and in the division of these cases into serious and minor offences there appears an increase, as compared with 1901, of 594 cases, or 17:45 per cent, in the former, and 655 cases, or 11.85 per cent. in the latter. The Report as a whole seems to have room for considerable improvement in the efficiency of the force. In the matter of gang robberies we note that 34 were reported during the year, and in only ten arrests. Again, with regard to robberies from boats and junks, only in nine out of 14 cases were any arrest made; while under the heading of street and highway robberies we note that 18 cases were reported and only in six were any arrests made. The ! value of the property stolen during the year was $248,469 which includes the $50,000 reported stolen from the s.s. Zafiro; while the value of the property recovered by the advantage.

police and restored to owners was $10,388. especially having regard to the strength of the police force in the Colony. The return does not show very clearly the number of men actually employed in constabulary duties. The total is given as 919 (Europeans 133; Indiana 367, Chinese 419), but a. footnote explains that this number includes. the police paid for by other Departments and private firms, and also the engineers coxwains and stokers, but is exclusive of the Captain Superintendent, Deputy and Assistant Superintendents' clerks and coolies.

The most prominent features in the return is the number of cases of housebreak ing and larceny. Last year's returns show an increase of 100 cases under the heading of burglary or larceny in dwellings and an increase of 321 in other larceny cases. Turning to the table setting forth the results in the cases reported we find the following:-Robberies with violence from the person, 66 cases, 39 convictions; burglaries, 78 cases, 21 convictions; larcenies in dwelling houses, 323 cases 44 convictions; larcenies, 2742 cases, 1247 convictions; felonies not already given, 260 cases, 76 convictions. Another table giving a quinquennial return of the crime in the colony shows very plainly that robbery, burglary and larceny in houses have increased to an alarming extent during the last five years as compared with the previous five years. For example the average yearly number of cases of robbery during the five years the average was 61.4: the average yearly number of cases burglary and larceny in houses for the first quinquennium was 93.4; for the second 287.0. Of course the fact must not be overlooked that the population of the colony has been correspondingly increasing, proportionately enlarged, and the community has a right to expect a higher standard of efficiency than these returns disclose.

The English mail of the 28th ult. was delivered in London on the 28th inst.

The work on the new street-car system for Manila is to be set about shortly.

The hot sultry weather of the past few days culminated last night in a thunderstorm with heavy rain.

The total revenue of the Colony for the year 1902 amounted to $15,397,720.71. The balance in hand on December 31st was $146,086.81.

The (ug-boat Fame which had gone southwards to assist in salving the stranded French steamer Bink Thuan is reported to have got aground also.

The half-yearly general meeting of members of the Hongkong Jockey Club will be held on Wednesday, 15th proximo, at 5 p.m., in the City Hall.

The visitors to the City Hall Library and Museum for the week ending 29th March were 280 non-Chinese and 87 Chinese to the former, and 63 non-Chinese and 2,897 Chinese to the latter institution,

One lot of Crown land, situated south of Kowloon Rauge, was exposed for sale yesterday at the P.W.D. offices and was bought by Rev. On the 29th March, at 4 p.m., at the Ohel Leah | G. A. Bunbury, the only bidder, for $148. Its area is 6,400 square feet.

> We note in the Return made by the Captain Superintendent of Police that during the year the following samples were sent to the Analyst :- Whisky, 9; brandy 6; gin, 4; beer 5; milk 3. All were certified to be gennine with the exception of one sample of milk.

> The following licences were issued in Hongkong during 1902 :- 1,175 Hongkong jinrickshas. 25 Quarry Bay jinrickshas; 140 Kowloon jinrickshas; 1,313 private vehicles; 548 Hongkong chairs; 40 Hill District chairs; 7 Gharis; 13,693 drivers and bearers.

> The Hon. Treasurer of the Alice Memorial and Nethersole Hospitals begs to acknowledge with thanks the following donations to the funds of the Hospitals:-

It was reported at alcutta last month that two Chinamen had been arrested at Darjeeling. So far as Hongkong is concerned, we k.ow nothing of it, though something has been heard

> During the year 1902, fifty prosecutions were instituted in the Colony under the Weights and Measures Ordinance. There were 44 convictions. the total amount of the fines being £2 500.

Foochow on Saturday the 21st inst. bad its Spring race meeting. The course after the rain which had fallen during the previous three weeks was a veritable quagmire, the Echo says, giving the class of pony dubbed " Mud-larks " by sporting men a distinct advantage over faster animals unable to gallop at their to p speed through mud.

The Foochow Echo of the 21st inst. says :--The best that can be said of the weather during the past week is that it has been seasonable and this ought to console us for the unpleasantness of it, for nothing else could. Two thunderstorms have varied the monotony of the leaden sky and the rawness and coldness of atmosphere. The rainfall for the week has been 4.53 inches.

The Eastern Extension Telegraph Company | might have wintered somewhere on is experimenting with the Lodge-Muirhead system of wireless telegraphy and two of their ships, the Restorer and Patrot have been fitted out with it. These are cable repairing vessels, and recently left Tilbury for Singapore and Adelaide respectively with wireless apparatus first five years was 17.8; in the succeeding to be fixed up at such ports as are difficult of approach in bad weather.

> At St. John's Cathedral, Hankow, a wedding took place on the 21st inst. between Lieut. E. G. W. Davidson, R.N., Commander of H.M.S. Snipe, and Miss Winifeed Isobal Corwinne Lamond, eldest danghter of Mr. J. Baxter Lamond of Shanghai. An uncommon spectacle was the presence of a guard of honour composed of bluejackets from H.M.SS. Teal and Snipe. The youthful bride and the bridegroom made a picturesque pair, the former looking most charming in her wedding costume, the latter being in his naval uniform. On leaving the Cathedral the newly wedded pair pasted under an arch formed by the blue jackets, with crossed cutlasses. The sailors then unharnessed the horses attached to the carriege, and hooking on drag ropes, moved off at a rapid pace amidst loud cheers. The reception took place at the Commissioner's House.

Wenotice that the Naval and Military Record disputes, as we did at the time, the accuracy of the statement that the Mars had made the world's coaling record with an average of 241 tons an hour. "The world's coaling record is held by the Terrible" says our con'emporary emphatically. "At Hongkong in April last this famous cruiser took into her bunkers 2,500 tons, the net time occupied being 9 hours 10 minutes. Up to 2,450 tons the average quantity shipped per hour was exactly 300 tons, the largest amount for one single hour being 324 tons. The last 50 tons, however, reduced the mean average to 275.7 tons per hour. The records are unprecedented in any navy, and have never since been surpassed. Some 22 junks were employed, the whole amount of the coal being alongside before the operations began. The performance of the Mars and the Majestic the other day did not even come up to the record made by the Prince George in June, 1901, when, coaling at Portsmouth, she took on board over 1.206 tous of coal at the rate of 226 tons per hour. The Prince George began conting at 1.30 a.m. and continued until 3 p.m., bat, after deducting meal hours, the retual working time was 5 hours 20 minutes, in which period she shipped 1,206 tons, or 226 tons an hour. Coal was transferred to her deck by means of three cranes on the shore side and two Temperley vessels and a steam derrick lighter on the harbour side."

HEALTH OF HONGKONG.

During the week ended on Saturday, 28 cases of plague-of which 24 were fatal-occurred and there was one non-fatal European case of enterio fever and four cases of small-pox (one African and three Chinese) of which three proved fatal. The plague returns for the 48 hours ended at noon yesterday showed 16 cases (13 fatal), bringing the year's total up to 140. All these cases were Chinese. Seven dead bodies were found dumped:

[The Discovery, as most of our readers will doubtless recollect, was sent on its perilous mission under the command of Cuptain Scott R.N. by the nation and the government, under the patronage of the King. In a recent lecture on "Arctic and Antarctic Exploration Sir Clements Markham, President of the Royal Geographical Society, said with reference to the Discovery, they knew that the vessel had passed asking His Excellency to send four magistrates one winter in the Antarctic regions, after to arrest this vessel banditti in the village. following Ross in forcing a way through the ice pack, but they knew no more. The boat east coast of Victoria Land, when numerous scientific observations and the work of exploration by aledge travelling would have secured ample scientific results. On the other hand. Captain Scott might have succeeded in pushing eastward beyond the furthest point reached by Ross, and entering an entirely unknown region. In that event, ample results would also be attained, but there would be cause, in that case, for some auxiety, owing to the incressed difficulty of communicating with the Discovery. It was unnecessary to dwell upon the obligation for sending a relief ship, for it was sufficient that Captain Scott, when writing from New Zealand, bad expressed anxiety that a relief ship should be sout to bring coals and supplies in the event of disaster. He reminded them, also, that if the ship was lost, a thousand miles of stormy ocean intervened, and all must perish if no relief ship was despatched. The relief ship Morning had sent under Captain Colbeck. had now two ships, containing souls, beyond all possibility of communication, within the Antarolic circle. This. was a work that ought to bave done by the Government. Our rulers had recognized its importance by making grant of money, and by lending officers and men from the Navy, but when they were saked for help to equip the relief ship, the reply was that the Government considered that they had no responsibility—that was, no responsibility for their own officers and men sent out mainly through their help. It was a strange view to take and absolutely without precedent. conclusion, Sir Clements Markham described the exact position of the expedition. If the relief ship, he said, succeeded in finding the Dis- years ago. Thereupon he paid them twenty covery after having wintered on the east coast of Victoria Land, Captain Colbeck would place himself under Captain Scott's orders. If the Discovery was not found, Captain Colbeck would conclude that she had penetrated into in public for three days. The robber is said to the unknown region to the east. He would form depôts at certain points already arranged and go back to Lyttelton for further orders, again returning in search of the Discovery in 1904. In the event of the Mording meeting the Discovery this season, it would be for Captain Scott to decide upon future operations. He might consider that more must be done and remain out for a second winter, but he Lenug Shi, described as a single woman living at 17, Hollywood Road, obtained judgment on 13th February against Ho Wong. owner of the Tung Tak Li junk, No. 405, for $515 principal and interest on money lent. After judgment was given in her favour, Loung Shi issued a writ of execution and seized the junk. Sabsequently the Ho Tung Hop issued an inter-pleader summons claiming the junk to be theirs. Mr. John Hays of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes & Master, solicitors, appeared for the claimants, and Mr. F. X. d'Almada e Castro. solicitor, for the execution creditor. THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Hongkong, 30th March.

Sin,-I have read, with considerable interest the somewhat unconvincing arguments ad vanced by a correspondent in your issue of the 28th instant, which appear to favour a coutinuance of the present chaotic system o currency in the Far East.

Inter alia, your correspondent writes :- "I approach the subject in the spirit of enquiry. THE NAVY LEAGUE CATECHISM.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PERSS."

13, Victoria St., London, S.W., February 18th, 1903.

SIE,-Ihave received from Captain Anderson, the Honorary Secretary of the Hongkong Branch of the Navy League, a copy of the Daily Press of January 8th, in which appears a letter from a correspondent asking cortain questions with reference to the Navy Catechism.

With regard to query (1) referring to squadrons for local defence, it has always been the principle of the dominant sea powerto seek out the enemy's squadrons in its own territorial waters, either to blockade the enemy's ports or to destroy its vessels that have emerged from them. Coast defence by local vessels implies waiting to be attacked in this manner and is a virtual admission that you do not possess the command of the sea. It will be many long years before anything that can e called an Australian Navy will be in existence, and when it is in being it is to be most devently hoped that being under the hand of the Imperial authorities it will be part and parcel of the Great British Navy.

Question (2) as to a three-power standard. It is useless discussing a three-power standard. before a two-power standard has been attained. With battleships in the proportion of 5 to the 3 of the two next strongest powers, the British Empire can be assured of its maritime anpremacy. correspondent is correct in his assumption that raised from Tls. 300 to Tls. 600 each, and the the meaning of the writer of the Catechism anditor's fee to Tis. 250. was that any alliances should be in addition to any necessity of increasing the British fleet. The Anglo-Japanese alliance is in the opinion of those well qualified to judge, both safe and honourable. (4) The question of a foreign invasion of England. There is no reason why your correspondent should not go back to the Romans. if he Peases, but the great principle remains the same that the Romans invaded Britain as did the Normans because they were in possession of sea power which enabled them to do so, and this was lacking by Britain.-Yours,

> WM. CAIUS CRUTCHLEY, Secretary of the Navy League.

THE SAVING VIRTUE OF THE CHINAMAN.

T. P. O'Connor selected as his " book of the week" on Feb. 20th, a clever novel The Circle by Katherine Cecil Thurston, and commences his comments upon it by the following reflections induced by the fact that the Jew of Russia-The Circle tells the story of a Russian Jew and his daughter-brings from his Oriental origin that great Eastern virtue of intenso and self-sacrificing family affection :-One of the clumsy and stupid things which is charged against the missionaries in China is that the narrow-minded among them make war against what is called the worship of their ancestors by the Chinese. To every thoughtful and humane man the purest and best bond of society is the reverence and love of children to their parents. It is a virtue which children do not always find it easy to practise; collision of temperament, differences of fortune, so metimes the grinding cares of their own personal needs, and the new families which they have createdsuch things now and then, in the case even of well-intentioned and high-minded children, stand between them and the adequate performance of their duties to the parents I pass by the cases of those who from sheer thoughtlessness or want of Leart regard their parents as atrangers whem they are not called upon to sesist; the man or woman who has got to that abyes is beneath contempt. If, then, the Chinaman, amid so much that vicious in his civilisation, retains this great social virtue of duty to parents-if amid his poverty and hard fight with corrupt governors, uncertain seasons, and an excessive population -if smid all this he adheres to his duty to the people who have brought him into the world, if their wants always stand in front of his own, if to make their old age free from pain, want, and care, remains with him a great moral law that should always be obeyed -who but an ass would try to weaken that noble virtue, and who but an even greater ass would think it made the least difference whether this virtue were called affection or worship, or whether it was accompanied or not by religious ceremonies? Any missionary, if such there be, who interprets the doctrines of the Christian religion in any such narrow spirit had better go back to his New Testament, and read it again, and make some attempt to grasp its essential spirit,

The announcement of Clevel and a candidacy has developed unexpected strongth and the wildest enthusiasm has been aroused by the act. His friends claim that he will sweep the country. It is not believed possible, however, that the nomination of Cleveland can prevent a split and if he controls the convention a large proportion of the Democratic vote is expected to go to the socialists.

LORD CRANBORNE AND THE CHINA QUESTION.

CRITICISM BY "THE TIMES.

Commenting on the Debate in Parliament, a full report of which, so far as it related to Chit a, was given in our yesterday's issue, the Times

It cannot be contended seriously that the exposition of our policy in the Middle East and the Far East given in Lord Cranborne's speech on Wednesday evening will reassure the large number of instructed Englishmen who watch with growing uneasiness the changes which are in progress in those regions. The Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs does not discern, or affects not to discern, how great those changes are. . . There is no desire in any quarter to assume an aggressive attitude towards Russia either in public would be quite satisfied with the policy embodied in Lord Cranborne's declaration of last year, if they could obtain satisfactory evidence that it was being presecuted with energy and firmness. But they do not want to see the pitiful story which they have witnessed in China repeated in South Persia, and they are not at all sure that the Government have wakened up to the ominous resemblance between the actual situation in Persia at d the situation in China before the series of events began which has left Russia, all diplomatic fictions notwithstanding, the actual mistress of a large and valuable part of the Chinese Empire. The example of China is, as we have often observed and as Sir Edward Grey repeated, very apposite. There, too, we had our rights infringed and our interests prejudiced by a native Government acting at the instigation of our rivals, and we replied by "strong observations." They were not very effective at Peking, and we do not see the smallest reason to suppose that they will be a whit more effective shricking and barricaded themselves. Oriental statesmon invariable side with that party in a controversy which they believe to be the most powerful and the most determined. They will trouble themselves as little at Teheran as at Peking about our strong observations, unless they believe them to be the prelude, if needful, to strong acts. Lord Cranborne rightly reminded the House that the Notes exchange with Russia in 1888 amount to a mutual engagement to respect the integrity of Persia. That is very gratifying so far as it goes, though the Notes do not seem to be very carefully worded, and articles have recently appeared in one of the chief Russian newspapers laying down the doctrine that Russia really cannot be expected to observe treaties dated some years back which interfere with her ambitions. But here again the case of China B illuminating. Russia has not found respect for her independence at all incompatible with the absorption of her northern provinces. The independence of Persia is a phrase, and it is a | tea. phrase which year by year is losing its old meaning. We may feed ourselves with it if we republic of Ban Balvador, died yesterday in like, as we have fed ourselves with the like windy diet in China, but if we are prudent washall hardly pin our faith upon it as a sure bulwark of our vital interests on the Persian Gulf and in Seistan.

NEW GOLD FIELDS IN ALASKA.

A New York telegram to a Manila contemporary states that recent arrivals from Alaska bring the information that a new gold field has been discovered which is far richer son Cruso; from nine to ten, the Robin than either the Klondike or the Cape Nome | Hood series and animal stories; from ten to fields. The new find is on the Tananah River, twelve, "carefully expurgated tales of the old a tributary of the Yukon, only a short distance Greek heroes"; from twelve to thirteen, stories below the Arctic Circle. A great rush has already begun on the new district and claims are being located over the whole length of the fourteen, at least one such play as The Mer-

The announcement has created great excitement and it is expected that the exodus to Alaska will almost equal that when the b. endike was discovered.

The Tananah River is quite a large stream which rises in the mountains on the eastern border of Alaska, near Dawson City, and reaches the Yukon almost in the centre of the territory. Between it and the Yukon lie the Tananah Hills, which have for a long time been

COLONIAL SANITATION.

Dr. Vivian Poore, of University College, is one of our leading authorities on sanitation and health. It has been represented to him that a volume collected from his larger works on this. subject might meet the wants of people living in remote places in the Colonies or elsewhere, by furnishing them with correct principles of sanitation. Accordingly, he has prepared such a selection, and Messrs. Longman are to issue it under the title "Colonial and Camp Sanitation," which well describes the idea of the contents.

> UNDEVELOPED POSSIBILITIES IN ELECTRICITY.

There are still undeveloped possibilities in electricity. A man in an apparently moribund condition was recently taken into the Melbourne Hospital, and in order to revive him an electric shock was administered. The results were startling and unexpected. A demoniac energy was instantaneously infused. He sent the doctor sprawling on the figor, and flunga couple of assistants out of the window. Then he proceeded to wreck the ward, while nurses ran away Electricity, as a medical agent, seems to be yet imperfectly understood. LONDONERS AND THEIR LUNCH.

The Quick Lunch Bar, which has announced itself in London, has met with a spirited protest, says a Lordon contemporary, from men who want to lunch slowly, and a club is being started for the purpose of lunching out of town. At home in winter, and at Richmond, Surbiton, or even at Guildford in summer. The projectors point out that with a careful study of the timetable, a man may take the twenty minutes past one train for Weybridge, devote over three quarters of an hour to his meal, and be back again at the Bank by half-past three. The project is an interesting kick against the pricks of business that compel a snatch at a sandwich between half-past one and twenty minutes to two. But it will take a considerable slice out Guinness, Boar's of the business day of the man who arrives at the office at ten, and leaves in time for afternoon

CHILDREN'S BOOKS. According to Harper's Weekly, Mrs. W. D.

McClintock, of the Department of English at the University of Chicago, has declared Jack and the Beanstalk, Blueteard, and The Three Bears to be unfit for childish reading. They have, she says, a victous "moral squint' about them. She thinks that no child ought to be allowed to read to itself until it is twelve years old, and she has mapped out a really moral literary course for the mother to superintend during infancy. From two to geven, fairy tales without a squint-if there are any-may be read: from seven to nine such tales as Robindealing with the adventures of good knights without too much romance"; from thirteen to chant of Venice and some of Scott's novels. By that time the offending Adam and the still more offending Eve ought certainly to be whipped out of anyone.

A CENSUS OF THE EMPIRE. At a meeting of the Royal Statistical Society in London last month a paper was read by Mr. J. A. Baines, C,S.L, on "A Census of the Empire." Mr. Baines remarked that, in spite of the great interest taken at the present time in the British Empire, the conception formed of it as a vast aggregate was, generally speaking somewhat vague and indefinite. The object of the paper, therefore, was to suggest that it should be someone's business to issue authoritatively something of the nature of an Imperial Census Review. A synchronous or uniform census throughout bis Majesty's dominions was not demanded; but, Mr. Baines pointed out, there should be a collection of cartain leading statistical facts to the extent local conditions would allow, and on a basis that would render possible comparison, within admitted limits, of the information accessible Mr. Baines proceeded to give instances of such information, and indicated the manner in which it could be utilised on recognised statistical lines. That could be done by showing the relative strength of the white and coloured population, and the distribution of that population over the country, in such a way as to exhibit its real character, instead of a bare figure of an enormous aggregate of varied circumstances. It did not fall within the limits set forth in the author's review to deal with the complicated subjects of marriage and occupation, but it was most adequately demonstrated what a wide and interesting base the statistics of the Empire afforded for treatment which might render them not only useful, but even popular and palatable, amongst those to whom they were at present inaccessible and dis-

HAMBURG LETTER.

[PROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.] Hamburg, 24th February.

THE HAISER'S LETTER ON REVEALED RELIGION.

Professor Delitssch of the University Berlin last month delivered two lectures before the German Oriental Society on the recent antiquarian discoveries amongst the ruins the ancient city of Babylon and their bearings on the Old Testament. After giving a mo interesting account of the high state of civilisation attained by the Assyrians, he advanced the theory that the Old Testament is not an inspired book, but the offspring of Assyrian laws and traditions. He even asserted that the Monotheism of the Jews is derived from the same source, denied the Messianic prophecies, and in referring to the New Testament denied the Divinity of Christ.

The presence of the Kaiser at these lectures having been much commented upon by the Press and in orthodox circles, he has now addressed an open letter to Admiral von Holleben, vice-chairman of the above society, stating his views on the subject of historical research in its relation to divine revelation. The following is a short resume of it. The Kalser considers that Professor Delitezch has made a great mistake in allowing the theologian "to run away" with the historian. He thinks that the professor should have reserved whatever theories he felt justified in basing upon the fresh knowledge acquired from recent excavations for discussion amongst his brother theologians; all the more as they are entirely hyphothetical, somewhat nebulous and certainly beyond the ken of the ordinary layman, who unable from lack of full information to judge for himself as to their correctness, finds his faith assailed and doubts cast upon what he holds most sacred. It must cause many to waver in their religious convictions, whilst many will find them sliding away altogether the professor should therefore beware of troubling the souls of believers and should proceed slowly and cautiously in matters theological. Let him confine himself to laying before the public the results of the recent explorations in their relation to the Old Testament, the object of the Oriental Society being to give in the interest of science the widest circulation to their discoveries and the results of their investigations but not to excite religious controversy.

nucertain manner his own convictions concerning Revelation. He holds that there are two distinct kinds, the one continuous, almost historical, the other purely religious, point ing to and preparing the way for the coming of the Messiah He does not entertain the slightest doubt that God is continually and incessantly revealing Himself to man, to whom He has given a portion of himself : the soul, With the love of the father He watches over and promotes the development of the human race and to all, Christians, Jews and Pagans alike, He has sent and still sends His prophets in the guise of great and wise men; such were Hamurahi, Abraham, Moses, Homer, Charlemagne, Luther, Stakespeare, Goethe, Kant. the Emperor William the Great, &c. He naturally adapts the nature and mode of His revelations to the understanding of the CHINA AND JAPAN people He visits, but as we are never more impressed by the abeauty and grandeur of creation than when we contemplate it in relation to the greatness of the Creator so we must surely recognise in all great and glorious deeds of individuals or nations, the glorious presence of the Almighty. The more purely religious form of revelation is the one pointing to the coming of Christ the Redeemer. It begins with Abraham and proceeds slowly, but with a steady view to the future, all-wisely and omnisciently. The tribe of, Abraham and the people that sprang from it, look upon. the belief in one only God as their most sacred inheritance, and although they may desert it for a time and follow strange gods, they invariably return to it. In this the hand of the Lord is clearly manifest. So it goes on, prophets and psalmists foretalling the advent of the Messiah until the crowning act of revelation takes place: the birth of Christ. Then God Himself appears on earth in the person of His Son; for Christ is God, God in human form-He redeemed us and sure of victory we henceforth pass through the trials and evils of this life through death, strong in the promise of the Lord, who lieth act! "Such," the Kaiser says, "are my views on the subject," adding that he considers much in the Old Testament to be of human origin; historical accounts of the development of the Jewish race in politics, ethics, religion and intellect. Much of this, for instance the Ten Commandmen s, may possibly be traced back to the Laws of Harnarabi and Babylonian inflaences, but the fact remains that it was G d Almighty who inspired Moses and revealed Himself unto Israel From all this the Emperor draws the fellowing conclusions: - (a) I believe in one Ged; (b) we require in order to teach Him certain forms, particularly for children; (c) these have hitherio been based on the Old Testament in its traditional shape. This will have to be materially modified in accordance

GERMAN FOREIGN TRADE IN ARMY RIFLES.

In an article on the above subject appearing in a German commercial paper it is stated that during the thirteen years 1889-1901 rifles were exported from Germany to the value of 142 million marks. The paper says :--

By far the greater part of these are modern rifles coming from the large German factories, but a large quantity of old rifles have also found their way into foreign countries. Formerly it was a common practice in the German war department, when introducing a new kind of rifle, to consign the old ones into the hands of tradesmen, who soon found purchasers for them in the small over-sea countries. In this waylarge quantities of old German infantry rifles'. such as Model 71 and Model 81, found their way into the Chinese army. Of late years, however, the practice has fallen somewhat out

Of all foreign states who figure as large purchasers of German army rifles, Turkey was till but a few years ago at the head. In the eight years from 1889 till 1896, Germany supplied Turkey with rifles to the value of 40 million marks. Second on the list was China, to which country no less than 25 million marks' worth of rifles were sold; among these, as before mentioned, a great quantity of old army rifles. Between the years 1894 and 1899, chiefly during the war in Cuba, the Spanish government bought rifles in Germany to the amount of 15-16 million marks. To South Africa nearly 3 million marks worth of rifles were sent during the years from 1896-1899. The South American Republics are also customers on a very lurge scale. Argentine, for example, has bought during the last ten years for about 17 million marks; Brazil for 8 million marks between the years 1889 and 1895; Chili for nearly 10 million marks during the last seven years. The two last mentioned countries bought up large quantities especially in the year 1895. In the year 1898 Merico received a sending approaching invalue to 2 million marks; Urugury another in the year 1893 valuing 1 million marki.

Even to Canada, from 1891 to 1893, army rifies were deli ered for as much as I million marks. During the last two years Venezuela, Peru, Columbia, and Bolivia, as well as Sweden and Servia, have given large orders. In the year 190) Sweden received rifles to the value of more than 24 million marks, and Servia, during the last two years, to the value of 5-6 The Emperor then goes on to explain in no million marks.

IMPERIAL QUARTO ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN-PRONUNCIATION.

For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words No Fire Insurance will be effected by me in | which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of Taku, torpode-boat destroyer, 250 tons, 6 gans, the Company's representative at an appointed foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vest margins. and vacant spaces which have beretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration : Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000 whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000. Chinese characters Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto published.

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally. It comprises upwards of two thousand large
